

JOIN UNISON TODAY

▶ UNISON, Scotland's largest trade union in public services, is actively challenging the flimsy business case which forms the basis of the Clyde Valley review.

▶ UNISON is committed to protecting both our members and the services they deliver.

▶ UNISON is engaged in discussions with all councils participating in the Clyde Valley review: East and West Dunbartonshire, North Lanarkshire, Renfrewshire, East Renfrewshire, Glasgow and Inverclyde.

▶ UNISON is calling on Scotland's councils to develop a 'bottom-up' approach to reforming public services and to involve staff and users in decision making.

▶ For more information on the Clyde Valley review see our online briefing at www.unison-scotland.org.uk/briefings/b006_BargainingBrief_ClydeValleySharedServices_June2011.pdf

Public service factories are not the answer

Councils across the Clyde Valley are reviewing the potential for shared services. UNISON's not opposed to public bodies sharing services, but we are against the creation of public service factories for so-called 'back office' services. This outdated approach has been widely criticised for providing high costs and poor service.

The review's approach is outdated too, having developed in conditions of secrecy, without proper input from the staff who deliver services. It also makes a number of sweeping assumptions about future savings with no evidence to support them.

These plans are at an advanced stage and employers will be moving quickly to implement them. So there's never been a more important time to join UNISON and become part of Scotland's largest union fighting for public services - and those who deliver them.
